Act East to Act Indo-Pacific: India's Expanding Neighbourhood

Prabir De is a Professor at the Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi, and also Head of the ASEAN-India Centre (AIC)

India is known as a leading voice in international affairs. India's economic size, vast and growing market, democratic institutions, access to ocean and foundation of science largely explain why India continues to play an important role in global and regional affairs. India is the only country in Asia having the heft to counterbalance China and thus welcomed by many countries in Asia and the Pacific. India has embarked on a period of radical changes in its foreign and economic policies.

Contents: Foreword • Preface • List of Tables, Figures, Map and Boxes • List of Abbreviations • Introduction • BBIN • BIMSTEC • SAARC • MGC • BCIM • BRI • Indo-Pacific • Endnotes • References

The Anatomy of an Indian General Election

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

Anatomy of Indian General Elections is the concluding part of Trilogy on 2019 Elections. The first two chartbusters “2019: Will Modi Win?” and “Rafale, Raga, Reuniting Forces for 2019” drew attention to the risks involved for the incumbent government and the chances for Congress in 2019 by predicting the wins in Assembly Elections in Rajasthan, MP and Chattisgarh. This book is the third and last in trilogy on upcoming 17th Lok Sabha Elections.

Contents: Acknowledgements · Introduction · How Strong Will the POLARISATION Be? · How Is Modi Evaluated on “INTENT”? · How “UNITED” Will the Opposition Be? · Will 2019 Be like CRICKET or TENNIS? · Can Opposition Find an ELECTION AGENDA? · Who Will Control the SMARTPHONE? · Will Upper Castes and Middle Class Be UNHAPPY with BJP?

Rafale, Raga, Reuniting Forces for 2019!

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

2019 Lok Sabha Elections will not only be a poll which will determine the direction for Indian economy and Polity, it is also likely to be one of most bitterly fought elections in the electoral history of the country. It is uncertain that how the post poll picture may emerge in April-May next year, but the performance of BJP will also be dependent on how effectively the Congress can challenge the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and poll management of BJP President, Amit Shah.

Contents: The Magic Trick of Democracy · Public Memory Is Short · The Joint Opposition Needs Congress · State Level Anti-Incumbency Can Help Congress · The Big Opportunity for Congress · Congress Needs to Find a Fresh Narrative · The Chinks in BJP’s Armour · What 2019 Holds for Congress

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

Political stability is an essential requirement for providing the right environment needed for peaceful communities and the vision of political leadership plays a key role in growth of a country. The NDA Govt has already completed its first three years and BJP is certainly on a rise. With a massive mandate in Uttar Pradesh and an expanding footprint across the country, it seems impossible to stop the Modi juggernaut in 2019.

Contents: The Story behind this Book – From Pankaj · Introduction · The Opposition will be Better Prepared for Modi · 2014 Mandate: UPA - The Story of Self Goals · The Role of Economy in Elections · 2014 Mandate: BJP’s Statistical Peak? · Modi’s Pinnacle: Was it 2014 or Will it be 2019? · Anti-Incumbency Against State Governments · The Implications for 2019 · The Key Takeaways for BJP for 2019 · The Key Takeaways for Opposition for 2019

Afghanistan: A Reality Check and The Way Ahead

Ratanji Singh was liaison officer with the National Media in Delhi.

Afghanistan is at the cusp of yet another transition while it searches for stability and struggles with a number of internal and external issues. Internal political turmoil, constant Taliban attacks across the country and deadly suicide bombings by the Islamic State-Khorasans keep it occupied while the New Great Game for geostrategic ambitions is played by external nations both in its front yard and its backyard. The past year itself has seen the players form new alliances as far as the Afghanistan issue is concerned.

Islamic Movements in the Middle East: Ideologies, Practices and Political Participation

P R Kumaraswamy is a professor of Contemporary Middle Eastern studies in JNU, New Delhi.
Md. Muddassir Quamar is Associate Fellow in the IDSA, New Delhi.
Manjari Singh is SYLFF Fellow and has submitted her doctoral thesis in JNU, New Delhi.

Islam is integral to the societies in the Middle East. It is part of people's faith, cultural expressions, and social constructions, and a source of law and political legitimacy. In modern times, Islam re-emerged as a significant tool for political mobilisation and in the wake of the Arab Spring these movements have become more popular and have expanded their political space in the whole region.

Human Rights Human Wrongs: In the Scale of Human Conscience

Shambhu Ram Simkhada is based in Kathmandu, Nepal. He was chairman of the 56th Commission on Human Rights.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) is the best gift of the United Nations and its main human rights organ, the Human Rights Commission to “We, the Peoples of the World”. But that powerful instrument is often rendered powerless by the behaviour of individuals running the institutions and the states, arguably the most powerful institution conceptualised by human mind so far.

Contents: Preface • Introduction • Human Rights: Historical Perspective and Contemporary Development • The 56th Session of the Commission on Human Rights • Fifth Special Session of the CHR • Emerging Issues in the Global Human Rights Agenda • Epilogue: From the Commission to the Council: Human Rights in the United Nations • Annex • Glossary of Terms

Freedom is an Eagle: Poems from an Outpost

G D Bakshi SM, VSM (retd) is a very well-known TV Commentator and India's leading Military Analyst

Freedom is an Eagle: Poems from an Outpost is a unique collection of poems by a soldier. Most of them were written on remote outposts in the high Himalayas and are a record of intense loneliness and exile. They record one of the most lonesome sounds – the crunch of a lone sentry's boots upon the snow. They also record the stark contrast in the sounds of utter silence that you encounter on the Himalayan battle fields and the exact opposite – the thundering sounds of artillery guns, bursting shells and mortars, staccato machine gun fire and the screams of the dying and the wounded that you hear on the self same battle fields.

Coercive Diplomacy against Pakistan: Options and Effectiveness in Non-Nuclear Conflict Space in Current Times

Akshat Upadhyay is a serving army officer and holds a double Master's degree in History and Political Science as well as an MPhil in Defence and Strategic Studies from Punjab University.

India and Pakistan achieved unofficial nuclear power status in 1998 with Pakistan attempting to use nuclear blackmail in fighting for a limited slice of territory in Kargil. Thus has begun an uneasy and fragile peace, punctuated by harsh rhetoric, proxy war and unsuccessful attempts at stability in the Indian subcontinent. Pakistan continues to use terror as a form of state policy while instigating the ‘Generation Next’ in the troubled paradise of Jammu and Kashmir.

Contents: Theoretical Construct of Coercive Diplomacy and Various Models of Deterrence and Compellence • Coercion in The Context of Indo-Pakistan Relations (Pre- and Post-Kargil) • Analysis of Primary Data • Efficacy of Coercive Diplomacy Measures Taken against Pakistan and Critical Analysis of Options Available • Conclusion and Recommendations

A National Security Strategy for India: The Way Forward

Philip Campose, PVSM, AVSM, VSM retired in August 2015 as the Vice Chief of Army Staff, after an illustrious career spanning over four decades in the Indian Army.

This book enunciates a possible National Security Strategy for India, as part of a grand strategy, in which India aims at achieving its purported aspiration of becoming “a regional power by 2030” and a “major global power by 2050”. The book emphasizes that, other than ‘hard’ power to deal with external threats, the country needs to develop economically, and achieve its purported political and developmental goals and objectives.

Contents: India's External Threats, Challenges, and Opportunities in a Future Strategic Context • Modernisation of the Indian Armed Forces • Role of Nuclear Deterrence • India's Internal Security Challenges • Empowering the Indian Nation and its People • Towards a Leadership Role in Asia and the Indian Ocean Region • India's Transition in Global Status from an 'Emerging Power' to a 'Major Power' • A National Security Strategy for India • Annexure India's National Security Strategy: Ends, Ways and Means

India and Iran as two ancient civilisations have historically shared cordial relations with some occasional challenges. One such challenge in recent years came up when Iran was placed under international economic and political sanctions due to its nuclear programme. These sanctions, especially the unilateral ones, also had adverse implications on India-Iran bilateral ties. This posed several challenges for Indian foreign policy and diplomacy towards maintaining its relationship with Iran. While evaluating the implications of sanctions on India-Iran bilateral ties, this book chronicles India's efforts to maintain its relation with Iran despite such challenges.

Contents: Introduction • The Iranian Nuclear Controversy • India-US Nuclear Deal and India's Vote against Iran • UNSC Sanctions on Iran • Severity of Sanctions and India's Predicaments • India's Participation in the 16th NAM Summit in Tehran • Election of Rouhani and the Changed Equations • The Iran Nuclear Deal and its Implications • India-Iran Commercial Ties after Lifting of Sanctions • The Way Forward

A coup attempt in the Maldives in November 1988 sent President Maumoon Abdul Gayoom into hiding. Malé flashed desperate SOS messages to several countries seeking military assistance. India was prompt in extending the requisite support. Operation Cactus was launched to rescue President Gayoom and restore his democratically elected government. The decision to launch the airborne operation more than 2,500 km away was deliberate, bold, and sufficiently contemplated by the political and the military leadership of India. The Indian Air Force promptly airlifted the paratroopers of the Indian Army to Hulule Island. The Indian Navy joined in to buttress the effort of the Army and Air Force. Exemplary synergy among the three Services and the diplomatic corps was the hallmark of Operation Cactus.

Contents: A Besieged President: The Maldives: The Land and the People • The Coup that Succeeded, Almost! • Those were the Days! • Inertia on D-Day • Operation Cactus: Clarion Call at Reveille! • A Cold Start • A Take-off in Haze • ‘Mr President, We’ve Arrived…’ • The Endgame • Comprehending Cactus: The Anatomy of Cactus • “Chhatri Mata ki Jai!” • Some Parallels • Asides!

This is the Military History of the Mohyals – an Indian clan of fighting Brahmans. The warrior sage, Parshuram, had militarised them in the early epic period. From priests these Brahmans had morphed into Mohyal fighting Brahmans, brave and tenacious fighters with a great tradition of soldiering. They became the Bhumiari Brahmans who later settled in Bihar and UP, and helped unify India for the Maurayan empire. The soldiers and scholars of History will find it an invaluable document about Indian Military History per se – right from the Vedic times to the present era.

Contents: Prologue: A Paradigm Shift in Indology: From the Indus to the Saraswati • Geneology: Saraswat Brahmans and the Mohyal Clans • The First Rebellion: The Battle Axe of Parshuram and the Rise of the Fighting Brahmans • Guardians of the Gate • The Bhumiars of the Imperial Mauryan Army and the Sunga Dynasty • The Arab Interlude • The Shahi Mohyal Brahmim Dynasty of Afghanistan • The Invasion of Sindh • The Turk-Mongol Invasions • The Mughal Empire • The Rise of the Sikhs and the Role of Mohyals in the Indian Military Revival • The British Empire • Arya Samaj, Freedom Struggle and the Holocaust of Partition • Resurrection

The Dragon Extends its Reach: Chinese Military Power Goes Global
Larry M. Wortzel

China has evolved from a nation with local and regional security interests to a major economic and political power with global interests, investments, and political commitments. It now requires a military that can project itself around the globe, albeit on a limited scale, to secure its interests. Therefore, as Larry M. Wortzel explains, the Chinese Communist Party leadership has charged the People's Liberation Army (PLA) with new and challenging missions that require global capabilities.

Contents: The PLA's Role in China's Foreign Policy • C4ISR • Naval Modernization, Strategy, Programs, and Policies • The PLA Air Force and China's Approaches to Aerospace • Modernized Ground Forces, Doctrine, and Missions • Strategic Rocket Forces, Nuclear Doctrine, and Deterrence • Space Warfare, Systems, and Space Control • Information Age Warfare and INET • The General Political Department and Information Operations • Challenges Posed by the Chinese Military

Indian Aircraft Industry: Possible Innovations for Success in the Twenty-First Century
Vivek Kapur has served as a research scholar at IDSA from December 2011 to December 2013 and has been a Senior Fellow at Centre for Air Power Studies (CAPS) since then.

This book starts from an examination of the importance of aviation to the country both for military as well as or civil purposes. From here it goes on to trace the development of aviation in India. Then the book examines the Indian Aircraft Industry from studying the aircraft projects carried out by India. From these aircraft projects lessons and learning have been culled for use later in the book. Thereafter there are case studies carried out of the two leading airpower capability countries, the USA and erstwhile Soviet Union / Russia. There are also case studies of Brazil and China as these two countries were behind India in aviation in the 1950s but are globally competitive today, unlike India.

Contents: Genesis and Early Growth of the Indian Aircraft Industry • Indian Aircraft Industry: Learning from the Past • Innovation: Practical Application in Development of the Indian Aircraft Industry • Development of Aerospace Industry in China and Brazil • Aerospace Industry in US and Erstwhile USSR/Russia • Key Takeaways from Case Studies of Other Countries' Development Processes • Possible Models for India's Aircraft Industry

Role of Second Strike in No-First-Use Doctrine: A Study of China and India

Zhong Ai, is currently a doctoral candidate doing her PhD in Diplomacy & Disarmament program of the Centre for International Politics, Organization and Disarmament, JNU.

Advent of nuclear weapons in 1945 forever changed foreign relations of states that possessed nuclear weapons. Instead of victory in war, deterrence and stalemate were the most desired objectives of their nuclear arsenals. The best use of nuclear weapons now lay in their non-use and No-First Use (NFU) has since come the be seen as the crucial first step in ensuring deterrence credibility or even complete disarmament.

Air Commanders
John Andreas Olsen

Air Commanders combines short military biographies and operational analyses to reveal how the personalities, attitudes, and life experiences of twelve outstanding U.S. airmen shaped the central air campaigns in American history. From Gen. Carl “TooeY” Spaatz, who began his career in World War I, to the recently retired general T. Michael “Buzz” Moseley, the case studies illuminate the character of these airmen, the challenges they confronted in widely disparate armed conflicts, and the solutions that they crafted and implemented. Their achievements proved decisive not only in the campaigns they led, but also in shaping the U.S. Air Force and the dominant role of airpower in modern warfare.

Wider Horizons: Perspectives on National Security, Strategic Culture, Air Power, Leadership and More
Arjun Subramaniam is a recently retired Air Vice Marshal from the Indian Air Force who has embarked on a second career in academia and writing.

Written with candour and clarity, Wider Horizons is a collection of published and unpublished articles and papers written by the author between 2012-2017 while still in service. Covering a truly astounding range of issues from national security, strategic culture, the India-China conundrum, air power, leadership, flight safety and surprisingly, a set of family travelogues, the book offers a peek into the restless mind of a fighter pilot-scholar.

Contents: Into the Dive • A Review of the Author’s First Book • Perspectives on National Security & Strategic Culture • Full Spectrum Air Operations & Jointmanship • Thoughts on Military History & Professional Military Education • The Mighty SU-30

Squaring the Circle: Mahatma Gandhi and the Jewish National Home
P. R. Kumarraswamy is a professor of contemporary Middle East Studies in Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi.

When it comes to Jews, Jewish nationalism and their aspirations in Palestine, even Mahatma Gandhi was not infallible. His abiding empathy for the Jews was negated by his limited understanding of Judaism and Jewish history. The conventional understanding that Gandhi was ‘consistently’ opposed to Zionism and the Jewish aspirations for a national home in Palestine does not correspond with his later remarks.

Contents: Introduction • Jewish Friends • The Zionist Courtship • Kallenbach, the Jewish-Zionist Friend • The Khilafat Phase • Palestine, the Jazirat-ul-Arab • Congress vs. League: The Political Tussle • The Harijan Article: The Jews, November 1938 • Unfamiliarity with Judaism • Zionism: An Enigma • Demand for Jewish Non-Violence

Eurasian States: Policies and Practices
Arun Mohanty is Professor and former Chairperson of the Centre for Russian and Central Asian Studies, School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi.

Strategic Partnerships and Diplomatic Relations among countries is built on the basis of common understanding that there is no alternative to the emergence of the multi-polar world. The current volume is a collection of articles about developments, security situations, political reforms, democratic transformation, external energy policies and trade relations among Eurasian States and their relations with India.

Contents: The Indo-Russian Strategic Partnership • Pages from the History of the Establishment of Diplomatic Relations between India and Russia Arun Mohanty • Some Aspects of Regional Security in Central Asia • Russia and India • CICA and the Contemporary World • Greater East Asia and Russia’s Task • Geopolitics at Work • International System • The Battle for Water in Central Asia and Regional Potential for Cooperation • Contemporary Japan–Central Asia Relations • The Silk Route and Kazakhstan • Kazakhstan • Socio-Economic Development of Uzbekistan and Indo-Uzbek Relations • Economic Policy of the State Concerning Small Business • External Energy Policy of Russia • Energy Factor in Geopolitics Valery Egozaryan • The New Silk Route and Chinese interests in Central Asia • Diaspora • Generation “Lost” and Generation “Next” • Can Eurasian Countries Catch Up with the West? • Institutional Developments and Political Practices in Kyrgyzstan • The Basic Directions of International Activity of the Russian Orthodox Church

Pakistan Army: Institution that Matters
Ashish Shukla is a Research Fellow at the Indian Council of World Affairs (ICWA), New Delhi

Pakistan Army is the most organised, powerful and influential institution in the country. It proclaims to protect not only the territorial frontiers of the state but the very ideology of the nation as well. The institution, through various means and mechanisms, controls Grand National Narrative (GNN) in Pakistan and strongly resists any attempt on part of other stakeholders to introduce changes having potential to weaken its hold in the system.

Contents: Introduction • The Pakistan Army: Basic Structure and Composition • Islam in the Garrison • Army's Institutional and Corporate Interests • Institutionalisation of Army's Role in Decision-Making • Conclusion

Images of Post-Soviet Kazakhstan: A Cosmopolitan Space with Borderland Anxieties
Suchandana Chatterjee is Honorary Associate, China Centre, University of Calcutta. As Fellow of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad Institute of Asian Studies (MAKALIAS), Kolkata.

The study revolves round the relationship between space and transitional identity in Kazakhstan in the post-Soviet period. The images are of the many, and as suggested here, relate to the Kazakh conscience. Kazakh borderlands have a completely different profile—that of shared spaces. The Kazakhs' attachment to their homeland is a constant—but the question is whether that territorial reality fits into other paradigms of identity and belonging. Such questions arise in the case of Mongolian Kazakhs and Uyghurs of Semirechie—in both cases the sentiment of place is strong compared to the overwhelming global experiences of the mainland Kazakhs.

Kurdistan: The Quest for Representation and Self Determination
Lungthuiyang Riamei, PhD currently teaches at the Department of Political Science, Gargi College, Delhi University.

Kurdistan, the name given to the Kurds' historical homeland, is a landlocked region that lies at the crossroads of Turkey, Syria, Iraq and Iran. The Kurds are known as a nation without borders and considered as a stateless people. Aftermath of the Arab Spring in 2010, Kurdistan has witnessed an increase in nationalism and a shift in geo-politics. The book examines the various models which could be acceptable solution to the Kurdish problem in West Asian region.

Contents: Introducing Kurdistan • Establishment of the Kurdish Regional Government in Iraqi Kurdistan • The Kurdish Conflict in Turkey • Political Situation of the Kurds in Iran and Syria • International Positions on the Kurdish Problem in the Middle East • The Question of Kurdish Self-Determination • Conclusion • Chronology of the Kurdish National Movement

China, Japan, and Senkaku Islands: Conflict in the East China Sea Amid an American Shadow

Monika Chansoria is a Senior Fellow at the Centre for Land Warfare Studies in New Delhi.

Tracing the genesis of the Senkaku Islands in the memoirs of history, and its potential future, in the backdrop of the East China Sea’s brewing dispute, this book chronicles the journey of Sino-Japanese relations in the explicit context of the Senkaku Islands. The evolving power transition dynamics in East Asia render Washington the lynchpin of Tokyo’s diplomatic and security strategy, and vice versa. Conversely, China is abrasively displaying an almost predictable geo-strategic pattern and strategy of enforcing territorial claims across Asia, keeping it just below the threshold of provoking conflict, whilst testing the tenacity of existential status quoist norms.

Contents: The Genesis of Dispute in the East China Sea • International Law, Legal Provisions, and Conventions • The Resurgence of Nationalism in China and Japan • Oil, Gas, and Economics of the Conflict • The China-Japan-America Triangle: Coercive Diplomacy, Military Supremacy, and Strategic Power Interplay • Reigniting a Quiescent Volcano • Submissions for Policy Consideration and Formulation

Indian Recipients of the Military Cross (Vol 1 & 2)

Sushil Talwar

Soon after the outbreak of the First World War, the Military Cross was instituted as a reward for junior army officers and warrant officers for gallantry in the field. Indian and Gurkha officers of the Indian Army were equally eligible for two other gallantry awards: the Indian Order for Merit and the Indian Distinguished Service Medal.

This entirely new ground breaking work goes a significant way towards filling the gap by providing comprehensive details of M.C. awards sanctioned for officers of South Asian origin who served with the Indian Army and the Indian States Forces in all conflicts up to August 1947.

For each entry the rank, name and regiment or corps of the officer is provided, together with the date and page number of the London Gazette and/or Gazette of India announcing the M.C. award. Each entry is supplemented by details of the officer’s military service and any other rewards received. Many of them have been found with families who have little or no knowledge of their ancestors’ gallant deeds.

Geopolitics and the Quest for Dominance

Jeremy Black is Professor of History at the University of Exeter.

Geopolitics, he maintains, is as much about ideas and perception as it is about the actual spatial dimensions of power. He considers the rise of British power, geopolitics and the age of Imperialism, the Nazis and World War II, and the Cold War, and he looks at the key theorists of the latter 20th century.

Contents: Introduction • Geopolitics before the Term Spatiality and Frontiers • Geopolitics before the Term Maps the Geopolitics of British Power 1500–1815: A Case Study • Geography and Imperialism The World in the Nineteenth Century • Geopolitics and the Age of Imperialism, 1890–1932 • Nazi Geopolitics and World War II, 1933–1945 • Geopolitics and the Cold War • Geopolitics since 1990 • The Geopolitics of the Future

Contours of Relationship: India and the Middle East

Kingshuk Chatterjee is an Associate Professor in the Department of History, Calcutta University.

India's relationship with the Middle East is a very good example of ties between people that are genuinely of historical. The primary objective of the volume is to examine the contours of relationship between the peoples of the two regions, before the political frontiers of the Indian subcontinent and the Middle East were fashioned in the middle of the twentieth century. While the natural frontiers of the Hindu Kush, Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea divided the peoples into linguistic and cultural zones that were Indic, Arab, Persian and Turkic, (and a host of others) such cultural frontiers, despite being thick, were never quite hard.

Contents: The Baghdadi Jews an Economic Force Across Asia (1790-1950s) • Mirza Ghulam Ahmad's Jesus and the Rediscovery of 'Lost Tribes' • Imadullah Makki and Muslim Cosmopolitanism in the 19th Century • Sayyid Jalal Al-Din Kashani and Habl Al-Matin of Calcutta • Ties in Troubled Times • The Trans-National Ties of an Indian Nationalist

India-China Border Trade: A Case Study of Sikkim's Nathu La

Eram Fatma did her M.Phil, in Foreign Policy from the Institute of Foreign Policy Studies, Calcutta University.

Border trade between India and China was closed shortly before the India-China war of 1962. The growing tensions between the two countries due to border issues along with India's stand to give refuge to the Dalai Lama added fuel to fire. There was about a decade and a half long Cold War like situation that existed between the two countries. Relations began to normalise from the mid-1970's. On 16 December 1991, India and China signed a memorandum of understanding on resumption of Border Trade. It was decided initially it would be carried out at one point across the Uttar Pradesh-Tibet border through the Lipulekh pass. This was followed by the reopening of Border Trade in 1992.

Contents: Introduction • China and India Commodity Trade (1991-2011) • East Sikkim: District Profile • India-China Border Trade Story-Pre 1962 War • Case Study of Nathu La Border Trade: Current Scenario • Conclusion • Bibliography • Appendix

Afghan Women in Transition: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Anwesha Ghosh was affiliated to Centre for Pakistan and West Asian Studies (CPNAS) University of Calcutta.

The Government of Afghanistan specified gender equality to be one of the most important cross cutting themes in Afghanistan National Development Strategy (ANDS) 2008-2013, by committing to measurable improvement in women's economic opportunities and access to and control over productive assets and income. In order to understand how the changes, achievements and challenges of women have altered overtime, attempts have been made through this study to review the position enjoyed by women in the remote past (Yesterday), starting from the monarchies up to the present generation of women (Today) and also what sort of challenges and obstacles the future generations of women are likely to face in Afghanistan in the days after the complete withdrawal of International Forces (Tomorrow).

Contents: A Historical Overview of Position of Women in Afghanistan • Barriers and Bridges: Women in Rural and Urban Afghanistan • The Afghan State, Society and Gender Politics up to 2001 • Afghan Women since the fall of the Taliban • Women's Voices in Contemporary Afghanistan

Whither Indian Ocean Maritime Order? Contributions to a Seminar on Narendra Modi's SAGAR Speech

Yogendra Kumar has been India's Ambassador to Tajikistan and the Philippines as well as High Commissioner to Namibia. He has been concurrently accredited to Palau, Micronesia and the Marshall Islands.

Prime Minister Modi articulated his vision for the future of the Indian Ocean region when he presented the Offshore Patrol Vessel Barracuda to the Mauritian Coast Guard on March 12, 2015, at Port Louis. Whilst infusing a soft civilisational complexion to India's envisaged role, it signifies, also, a determination to seek a future of 'Security and Growth for All in the Region' – or SAGAR (Hindi for 'sea'). The eminent contributors to this volume analyse the various components of the SAGAR pronouncement and contextualise them against the emerging strategic trends and the spectrum of bilateral and multilateral effort required for its success.

Contents: A Strategic Perspective • Mapping the Maritime Order from International Relations' Theoretical Perspectives • Traditional Security Challenges to the Maritime Order in the Indian Ocean Region • Non-Traditional Security Challenges to the Maritime Order in the Indian Ocean Region • Overview of Governance Structures for the Indian Ocean Region • Indian Ocean Rim Association (IORA) • Indian Ocean Naval Symposium (IONS) • Ways to Strengthen Cooperation between BIMSTEC and IORA • Indian Diplomacy for the Indian Ocean Region • Diplomatic Role for the Indian Navy and the Coast Guard • Diplomatic Outreach in the Shipping Sector • Diplomatic Role for Ministry of Earth Sciences • Strategic Overview of India's Maritime Challenges • Epilogue • Annexure Prime Minister's SAGAR Speech

Enhancing Economic Relations between India and Mongolia: Task and Opportunities

Prabir De, Professor, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS); Coordinator, AIC, and Adjunct Fellow, ICS, New Delhi
Sreya Pan, Research Associate, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi.

The relations between Mongolia and India have a long history. Both countries have continued to build relations based on their shared historical and cultural legacy. Relations with Southeast and East Asian countries are the foundation of India's Act East Policy (AEP). India-Mongolia bilateral relations hold the promise of fostering the regional integration process in Asia. Given the thrust of the Act East Policy (AEP), this book analyses the scope and opportunities in interdependence in economic areas between India and Mongolia, presents an assessment of economic cooperation, identifies the challenges and highlights policy issues to be sorted out to foster bilateral relations.

Contents: Executive Summary • Introduction • Overview of the Mongolian Economy • Economic Relations between India and Mongolia • Mongolia's Integration with the World Economy • Mongolia's Trade Transportation Linkages with Neighbouring Countries • Bilateral Relations between India and Mongolia • Measures to Strengthen India – Mongolia Economic Relations • Conclusion

Cyber War: Conquest Over Elusive Enemy
Ashish Kumar Gupta was a Senior Fellow at Centre for Air Power Studies (CAPS), New Delhi.

Cyber crime, cyber warfare and cyber terrorism have been so intricately embedded in the current ‘security zeitgeist’ that any discourse, technology integration and capability assimilation without multifaceted foci on these, remains diffused and inchoate. Strategists, decision-makers, practitioners and scholars study cyber warfare and each group is saddled with its own peculiar and intractable problems. The ubiquitous dependence of a nation on cyber space makes the disruption of cyber space a cause of grave concern. The conventional rules and legal norms associated with crime control and criminal justice struggle to keep pace with the changing dynamics of the challenges of policing, regulating and enforcing the provisions of statutory laws in cyber space.

Contents: Cyber War • Coming of Age of Cyber War • Enunciation of the Principles of Cyber Deterrence • Cyber-Military Doctrinal and Functional Convergence • Cyber Surveillance, Espionage and Exploitation • Cyber Security and Critical Information Infrastructure Protection • Cyber Defence • War Over Internet Governance • Offensive Potentiality of Cyber Attacks • Internet of Things • Shaping The Cyber Zeitgeist in India: Challenges, Prospects and Opportunities

Kritajnya Raghunathan is a third year undergraduate student of Economics from Stella Maris College.
Akanksha Soni is a final year undergraduate student of Economics from Stella Maris College, Chennai.

China has garnered interest in the world as it emerges as one of the largest nations, in terms of population and economic potential. While China is Asia's largest economy it also has Asia's largest urban-rural divide. While urban-rural disparities exist in almost every country in the world, they exist in a unique form in China. The divide has been intentionally exacerbated by the Chinese government.

Resolving India's Maoist Challenge: Looking Beyond Security and Development
Shashank Ranjan is a Senior Fellow with the Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS), New Delhi.

The Maoist or Naxalite insurgency began in the late 1960s as a peasant struggle. A 'strategy' of response to resolve the challenge would have to factor in the cumulative deficits, as also the roots of these deficits. It can not be 'only security' or 'only development' or even both blended. The narrative shall have to go beyond; into the people-centric realm. The main objective of this book is to explore the dynamics of the conflict, cutting across the socio-economic, institutional and human domains.

Contents: Genesis and Evolution of Left Radicalism in India • Inheritance of Discontent and Alienation • Governing the Tribals • PESA • The Sordid Saga of Displacement • Tribal Resurgence • Maoists’ Organisational Set-up • Proliferation for War-Fighting • Ideological Faultlines • Managing Perceptions for the Maoists • Seeing Through the Maoist Myths • Criminal Justice System, Undertrials and Alienation • Modernising and Reforming the Police • Civil Society, NGOs and Conflict Resolution • Enabling the Grassroots

Weaponisation of Space: An Inevitable Reality and Plausible Fallout

Pul Patil was Senior fellow of CAPS, New Delhi.

Militarily, use of space based assets when integrated with operations assumes importance as one of the many force multipliers. As on date, outer space is extensively used by the armed forces for varied services which include navigation, intelligence, surveillance, reconnaissance, environmental monitoring and advance warning. Thus, from the present capability of ‘militarization of space’, we seem to be graduating towards ‘weaponisation of space’.

Contents: Pursuit for Space Supremacy • The Quest for Space Weapons • Kinetic Kill Space Weapons • Directed Energy Weapons • Cyber Attacks on Satellites • United States, China and Space Weapons • Implications of Space Weaponisation and its Global Fallout • Space Weaponisation and the Legal Framework • Space Weapons: Indian Context and Futuristic Roadmap

Indo-Pak War 1971 Daruchhian: Saga of Valour

Inderjit Singh dedicated his life to serve the ex-servicemen.

“The Battle of Daruchhian, a Saga of Valour and Sacrifice” is an account of a battle in which in a matter of less than twelve hours a total of eight officers, seven JCOs and one hundred and forty nine ORs were killed, wounded or missing. The first part of the book deals with the problems faced by a CO and how he overcame the same. It also gives out an account of a successful raid on enemy Supply Point carried out before the main battle. The second part is a detailed account of the battle. It also explains how men were focused during the battle, despite reverses and the enemy proving to be stronger. The third part enumerates the problems faced by an unsuccessful Commander.
