Act East to Act Indo-Pacific: India's Expanding Neighbourhood
Prabir De is a Professor at the Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi, and also Head of the ASEAN-India Centre (AIC)

India is known as a leading voice in international affairs. India's economic size, vast and growing market, democratic institutions, access to ocean and foundation of science largely explain why India continues to play an important role in global and regional affairs. India is the only country in Asia having the heft to counterbalance China and thus welcomed by many countries in Asia and the Pacific. India has embarked on a period of radical changes in its foreign and economic policies.

Contents: Foreword • Preface • List of Tables, Figures, Map and Boxes • List of Abbreviations • Introduction • BBIN • BIMSTEC • SAARC • MGC • BCIM • BRI • Indo-Pacific • Endnotes • References

Dr. Jagannath P. Panda is a Research Fellow and Centre Coordinator for East Asia at the Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses (IDSA), New Delhi.

This book aims to examine the scope and potential of India-Japan cooperation factoring infra-structure connectivity and corridors in Indo-Pacific. The volume examines the bilateral, trilateral and multilateral contours of the growing partnership in the backdrop of a rising China that is rapidly changing the geo-political order of the region.

 US Strategy and India Interest, Policy and Media: A Study with Special Reference to India's Territorial Conflicts
Prof. Shanta Nedungadi Varma has engaged extensively on core areas of India's foreign and security policies, global security, media and environment.

US-India relations have traversed vast and uneven terrain to forge a comprehensive strategic partnership today. They have also spanned a wide spectrum of change. The book unravels a range of Washington's attitudes towards India over half a century, focussing on India's international territorial conflicts, covering both the Cold War and post Soviet periods.

Contents: Preface • Acknowledgements • Sourcing US Policy: Cold War, India and the Negative Narrative • Media, Foreign Policy and Image • The Liberation of Goa: Geopolitics, Hype and False Images • The Chinese Aggression: Complex Interests, Arm-Twisting and Bi-Focal Images • Pakistan's Aggressions in Kutch and Kashmir: US Geostatecy and Media Distortions • Kargil: New Global Dynamics, Interests and Image Reconstruction • Conclusion

 Democracy and Authoritarianism in Pakistan: The Role of The Mili-tary and Political Parties
Dr. Shiraz Sheikh is currently a Project Associate under the UGC-Centre for Pakistan Studies at the Academy of International Studies, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi.

A Set of reasons have been attributed to the question why Pakistan has oscillated between democratic and military regimes? In Democracy and Authoritarianism in Pakistan: The Role of the Military and Political Parties the author has attempted to untangle this intriguing riddle. In this nuanced and detailed study of the process of democratisation and its correlation with the military and civilian regimes the book traces the evolution, deviation and reconsolidation of democratic process and institutions in Pakistan.

Contents: Acknowledgement • Abbreviations • Introduction • Democracy and Political Parties: Conceptual Linkages • Authoritarianism, Military and Civil-Military Relations • Political Parties in Pakistan: Origin, Evolution and Electoral Participation • Society, Leadership and Social Base of Political Parties • Political Parties and the Two Civilian Interludes • From Military Rule to Democracy: Political Parties' Third Chance to Consolidate • Conclusion • Glossary • Interviewees • Bibliography • Appendices A-E
India’s Quest for UAVs and Challenges
Group Captain Rajiv Kumar Narang VM, was commissioned in the helicopter stream of the Indian Air Force (IAF) in December 1989.

Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs) and Unmanned Combat Aerial Vehicles (UCAVs) having the unique ability to undertake long duration and risky missions have raised questions on the need for having a man in the cockpit, i.e. a manned aircraft.

India in Global Nuclear Governance

Reshmi Kazi is an Associate Professor at Jamia Millia Islamia.

Åshild Kolás is a Research Professor at the Peace Research Institute Oslo (PRIO).

In the prevailing international security situation, the world community, including India believes nuclear security must be conferred high priority for global peace and security. As a responsible member of this community, India finds itself prioritizing this aspect more than ever before. In its more than five decades of its nuclear weapons programme, there has not been a single nuclear incident in India.

Contents: Foreword • Contributors • Introduction: Global Nuclear Governance in the Making, Reshmi Kazi and Kanica Rakhra • India's Nuclear Infrastructure Status and Challenges, Steinar Hestrøen and Elin Enger • Global Nuclear Governance and India, Roshan Khanijo • India and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty: Lessons for Outlier States, Kanica Rakhra • Proliferation-Resistant Nuclear Systems, Reynaldo Morales • The Global Centre for Nuclear Energy Partnership An Indian Answer to the Nuclear Security Challenge, Reshmi Kazi • What Next for India's Nuclear Diplomacy?, Priyanjali Malik • The Humanitarian Initiative to Ban Nuclear Weapons and India's Strategic Engagement, Maitha Skjønsberg

The Anatomy of an Indian General Election

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

Anatomy of Indian General Elections is the concluding part of Trilogy on 2019 Elections. The first two chartbusters “2019: Will Modi Win?” and “Rafale, Raga, Reuniting Forces for 2019” drew attention to the risks involved for the incumbent government and the chances for Congress in 2019 by predicting the wins in Assembly Elections in Rajasthan, MP and Chattisgarh. This book is the third and last in trilogy on upcoming 17th Lok Sabha Elections.

Contents: Acknowledgements • Introduction • How Strong Will the POLARISATION Be? • How Is Modi Evaluated on “INTENT”? • How “UNITED” Will the Opposition Be? • Will 2019 Be like CRICKET or TENNIS? • Can Opposition Find an ELECTION AGENDA? • Who Will Control the SMARTPHONE? • Will Upper Castes and Middle Class Be UNHAPPY with BJP?

Rafale, Raga, Reuniting Forces for 2019!

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

2019 Lok Sabha Elections will not only be a poll which will determine the direction for Indian economy and Polity, it is also likely to be one of most bitterly fought elections in the electoral history of the country. It is uncertain that how the post poll picture may emerge in April-May next year, but the performance of BJP will also depend on how effectively the Congress can challenge the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and poll management of BJP President, Amit Shah.

Contents: The Magic Trick of Democracy • Public Memory Is Short • The Joint Opposition Needs Congress • State Level Anti-Incumbency Can Help Congress • The Big Opportunity for Congress • Congress Needs to Find a Fresh Narrative • The Chinks in BJP’s Armour • What 2019 Holds for Congress

2019: Will Modi Win?

Pankaj Sharma is a management consultant.

Saurav Sanyal is Associate prof of IILM Graduate School of Management.

Political stability is an essential requirement for providing the right environment needed for peaceful communities and the vision of political leadership plays a key role in growth of a country. The NDA Govt has already completed its first three years and BJP is certainly on a rise. With a massive mandate in Uttar Pradesh and an expanding footprint across the country, it seems impossible to stop the Modi juggernaut in 2019.

Contents: The Story behind this Book – From Pankaj • Introduction • The Opposition will be Better Prepared for Modi • 2014 Mandate: UPA - The Story of Self Goals • The Role of Economy in Elections • 2014 Mandate: BJP’s Statistical Peak? • Modi’s Pinnacle: Was it 2014 or Will it be 2019? • Anti-Incumbency Against State Governments • The Implications for 2019 • The Key Takeaways for BJP for 2019 • The Key Takeaways for Opposition for 2019

Sense, Sensex and Sentiments: The Failure of India’s Financial Sentinels

M R Venkatesh is a Chartered Accountant who addresses business concerns relating to economic policies, international trade and strategies.

Sense, Sensex and Sentiments is a compelling story of seemingly unrelated aspects that drive global as well as Indian economics today—a global regime that allows proliferation of tax havens, national economic policies that are simultaneously the cause and effect of corruption, corruption that eventually results in money laundering, money laundering which, in turn, sustains the economics of tax havens, reverse flow of money from tax havens that causes the boom and doom of markets across continents, exaggeration of boom.

Contents: The Story of Loot and Scoot from India • Hawala and Money Laundering • Tax Havens: The Contrasting Debate Elsewhere and in India • Global Response to Money Laundering and Tax Havens • When Watchdogs Sleep • Where the Hunter Becomes the Hunted • KYC: Know Your Controversy • Monetary Policy Management: A Tight-Rope Walk for RBI • Indian Policy Responses • Manipulate Sentiments, Manage Markets.

Islam is integral to the societies in the Middle East. It is part of people’s faith, cultural expressions, and social constructions, and a source of law and political legitimacy. In modern times, Islam re-emerged as a significant tool for political mobilisation and in the wake of the Arab Spring these movements have become more popular and have expanded their political space in the whole region.

Bose: An Indian Samurai Netaji and the INA a Military Assessment

G D Bakshi SM, VSM (retd) is a very well-known TV Commentator and India’s leading Military Analyst

This is a path breaking book by a former General that seeks to evaluate Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose as a military leader and indeed, the First Supreme Commander of India. Netaji was instrumental in India getting her freedom. The INA was the primary catalyst that inspired the military revolts of 1946 that ultimately forced the British to quit. There is also the dark secret about what finally happened to Bose. To get at the whole truth, we need access to Russian, Japanese and British archives. The author has analysed a wealth of data.

Contents: Historical Context of the Freedom Struggle, the Military Revolts of 1857 and 1946 • Bose the Indian Samurai • Lost Victories, the Summer of 1942 • The First INA, Raising the Force • Bose Moves East • The Second INA and the Provisional Government of Free India • Invasion, the Critical Battles of Imphal and Kohima • Retreat From Burma • Missing in Action • Epilogue, the Legacy of Bose; the need to revise Indian History

Freedom is an Eagle: Poems from an Outpost

G D Bakshi SM, VSM (retd) is a very well-known TV Commentator and India’s leading Military Analyst

Freedom is an Eagle: Poems from an Outpost is a unique collection of poems by a soldier. Most of them were written on remote outposts in the high Himalayas and are a record of intense loneliness and exile. They record one of the most lonesome sounds – the crunch of a lone sentry’s boots upon the snow. They also record the stark contrast in the sounds of utter silence that you encounter on the Himalayan battle fields and the exact opposite – the thundering sounds of artillery guns, bursting shells and mortars, staccato machine gun fire and the screams of the dying and the wounded that you hear on the self same battle fields.

Contents: Book One: Freedom is an Eagle • Book II: The Killings Fields of Kargil The Master of Machine Guns

Indo-Vietnam Relations in the Emerging Global Order
Suranjana Das is at present the Vice-Chancellor of Jadavpur University, Kolkata.
Tridib Chakraborti was a Professor of the Department of International Relations, Jadavpur University, Kolkata.
Subhadeep Bhattacharya is a Ph.D. candidate at the History Department of the University of Calcutta.

This publication is the outcome of a Government of West Bengal-funded research project on Indo-Vietnam Relations undertaken at the Netaji Institute For Asian Studies, Kolkata. It unfolds the evolution of a unique partnership between India and Vietnam, a relationship moulded by historical, diplomatic and geo-strategic factors. The authors convincingly argue that Indo-Vietnamese strategic partnership – buttressed by greater economic and cultural connectivity – is of crucial significance in the context of New Delhi’s Act East Policy.

Contents: The Indo-China War and Vietnam • India-Vietnam Relations During the Vietnam War and the Cold War Era • 1976-1990: A New Period of India-Vietnam • The Cambodian Crisis and Indo-Vietnam Relations • India-Vietnam Relations in the Post-Cold War Years • India-Vietnam Bilateral Trade Since the 1990s • India and Vietnam: Bilateral Investments • Civil Nuclear Cooperation • Human Resource Development Cooperation • India-Vietnam Cooperation in Science and Technology • India-Vietnam Connectivity in Culture, Religion and Tourism • Emerging Geo-Strategic Compulsions in Contemporary Indo-Vietnam Bilateralism

A National Security Strategy for India: The Way Forward
Philip Campose, PVSM, AVSM, VSM retired in August 2015 as the Vice Chief of Army Staff, after an illustrious career spanning over four decades in the Indian Army.

This book enunciates a possible National Security Strategy for India, as part of a grand strategy, in which India aims at achieving its purported aspiration of becoming “a regional power by 2030” and a “major global power by 2050”. The book emphasizes that, other than ‘hard’ power to deal with external threats, the country needs to develop economically, and achieve its purported political and developmental goals and objectives.

Contents: India’s External Threats, Challenges, and Opportunities in a Future Strategic Context • Modernisation of the Indian Armed Forces • Role of Nuclear Deterrence • India’s Internal Security Challenges • Empowering the Indian Nation and its People • Towards a Leadership Role in Asia and the Indian Ocean Region • India’s Transition in Global Status from an ‘Emerging Power’ to a ‘Major Power’ • A National Security Strategy for India • Annexure India’s National Security Strategy: Ends, Ways and Means

1971: The Fall of Dacca

G D Bakshi is a combat veteran, a renowned military historian and a prolific writer who has written over 35 books.

The 1971 war for the Liberation of Bangladesh was a landmark conflict in the history of South Asia. It dramatically changed the map of this region and marked a historical revival of Indian military power. In just 13 glorious and action packed days – three Indian corps sized spear heads raced for the capital city of Dacca. It was India’s finest hour. It unconsciously revived the Kautilyan paradigm of war-fighting.

Contents: Prologue: The Bangladesh War • Years of the Vulture • Operation Searchlight • The Cynical View from Washington • Crisis Management • Operations of the Mukti Bahini • Niazi’s Plans of A Forward Defence • Generating Synergy and Setting the Stage • Formulation of War Plans • Safeguarding the Flanks • The Lurch Towards War • Personal Narratives • War Breaks Out: The Preemptive Strike of the ‘Fiza Ya’ • Air Bridge to Dacca • Trump Card at Tangail • Striking the Core • Negotiations for Surrender • The Jacob-Niazi Dialogue • The Conundrum • The Just War Paradigm

India–Iran Relations: Under the Shadow of the Iranian Nuclear Issue

Challenges for India’s Diplomacy

Asif Shuja is a Research Fellow at the Indian Council of World Affairs, New Delhi.

India and Iran as two ancient civilisations have historically shared cordial relations with some occasional challenges. One such challenge in recent years came up when Iran was placed under international economic and political sanctions due to its nuclear programme. These sanctions, especially the unilateral ones, also had adverse implications on India-Iran bilateral ties. This posed several challenges for Indian foreign policy and diplomacy towards maintaining its relationship with Iran. While evaluating the implications of sanctions on India-Iran bilateral ties, this book chronicles India’s efforts to maintain its relation with Iran despite such challenges.

Contents: Introduction • The Iranian Nuclear Controversy • India-US Nuclear Deal and India’s Vote against Iran • UNSC Sanctions on Iran • Severity of Sanctions and India’s Predicaments • India’s Participation in the 16th NAM Summit in Tehran • Election of Rouhani and the Changed Equations • The Iran Nuclear Deal and its Implications • India-Iran Commercial Ties after Lifting of Sanctions • The Way Forward

Operation Cactus: Anatomy of One of India’s Most Daring Military Operations

Ashok K Chordia is a Senior Fellow at the Centre for Air Power Studies, New Delhi.

A coup attempt in the Maldives in November 1988 sent President Maumoon Abdul Gayoom into hiding. Malé flashed desperate SOS messages to several countries seeking military assistance. India was prompt in extending the requisite support. Operation Cactus was launched to rescue President Gayoom and restore his democratically elected government. The decision to launch the airborne operation more than 2,500 km away was deliberate, bold, and sufficiently contemplated by the political and the military leadership of India. The Indian Air Force promptly airlifted the paratroopers of the Indian Army to Hulule Island. The Indian Navy joined in to buttress the effort of the Army and Air Force. Exemplary synergy among the three Services and the diplomatic corps was the hallmark of Operation Cactus.

Contents: A Besieged President: The Maldives: The Land and the People • The Coup that Succeeded, Almost! • Those were the Days! • Inertia on D-Day • Operation Cactus: Clarion Call at Reveille! • A Cold Start • A Take-off in Haze • ‘Mr President, We’ve Arrived…’ • The Endgame • Comprehending Cactus: The Anatomy of Cactus • “Chhatri Mata ki Jai!” • Some Parallels • Asides!

Guardians of the Gate: A Military History of the Mohyal Fighting Brahmans

G D Bakshi is a combat veteran, a renowned military historian and a prolific writer who has written over 35 books.

This is the Military History of the Mohyals—an Indian clan of fighting Brahmans. The warrior sage, Parshuram, had militarised them in the early epic period. From priests these Brahmans had morphed into Mohyal fighting Brahmans, brave and tenacious fighters with a great tradition of soldiering. They became the Bhumihar Brahmans who later settled in Bihar and UP, and helped unify India for the Mauyrayan empire. The soldiers and scholars of History will find it an invaluable document about Indian Military History per se—right from the Vedic times to the present era.

Contents: Prologue: A Paradigm Shift in Indology: From the Indus to the Saraswati • Geneology: Saraswati Brahmans and the Mohyal Clans • The First Rebellion: The Battle Axe of Parshuram and the Rise of the Fighting Brahmans • Guardians of the Gate • The Bhumihars of the Imperial Mauyrayan Army and the Sunga Dynasty • The Arab Interlude • The Shahi Mohyal Brahmim Dynasty of Afghanistan • The Invasion of Sindhs • The Turko-Mongol Invasions • The Mughal Empire • The Rise of the Sikhs and the Role of Mohyals in the Indian Military Revival • The British Empire • Arya Samaj, Freedom Struggle and the Holocaust of Partition • Resurrection

India and the European Union: Perceptions of the Indian Print Media and Elites

The Dragon Extends its Reach Chinese Military Power Goes Global

Larry M Wortzel

China has evolved from a nation with local and regional security interests to a major economic and political power with global interests, investments, and political commitments. It now requires a military that can project itself around the globe, albeit on a limited scale, to secure its interests. Therefore, as Larry M. Wortzel explains, the Chinese Communist Party leadership has charged the People’s Liberation Army (PLA) with new and challenging missions that require global capabilities.

Contents: The PLA’s Role in China’s Foreign Policy • C4ISR • Naval Modernization, Strategy, Programs, and Policies • The PLA Air Force and China’s Approaches to Aerospace • Modernized Ground Forces, Doctrine, and Missions • Strategic Rocket Forces, Nuclear Doctrine, and Deterrence • Space Warfare, Systems, and Space Control • Information Age Warfare and INEW • The General Political Department and Information Operations • Challenges Posed by the Chinese Military
Indian Aircraft Industry: Possible Innovations for Success in the Twenty-First Century
Vivek Kapoor has served as a research scholar at IDS A from December 2011 to December 2013 and has been a Senior Fellow at Centre for Air Power Studies (CAPS) since then.

This book starts from an examination of the importance of aviation to the country both for military as well as civil purposes. From here it goes on to trace the development of aviation in India. Then the book examines the Indian Aircraft Industry from studying the aircraft projects carried out by India. From these aircraft projects lessons and learning have been culled for use later in the book. Thereafter there are case studies carried out of the two leading airpower capabilities countries, the USA and erstwhile Soviet Union / Russia. There are also case studies of Brazil and China as these two countries were behind India in aviation in the 1950s but are globally competitive today, unlike India.

Contents: Genesis and Early Growth of the Indian Aircraft Industry • Indian Aircraft Industry: Learning from the Past • Innovation: Practical Application in Development of the Indian Aircraft Industry • Development of Aerospace Industry in China and Brazil • Aerospace Industry in US and And while USSR/Russia • Key Takeaways from Case Studies of Other Countries’ Development Processes • Possible Models for India’s Aircraft Industry

Role of Second Strike in No-First-Use Doctrine: A Study of China and India
Zhong Ai, is currently a doctoral candidate doing her PhD in Diplomacy & Disarmament program of the Centre for International Politics, Organization and Disarmament, JNU.
Advent of nuclear weapons in 1945 forever changed foreign relations of states that possessed nuclear weapons. Instead of victory in war, deterrence and stalemate were the most desired objectives of their nuclear arsenals. The best use of nuclear weapons now lay in their non-use and No-First Use (NFU) has since come the be seen as the crucial first step in ensuring deterrence credibility or even complete disarmament.

Air Commanders
John Andreas Olsen
Air Commanders combines short military biographies and operational analyses to reveal how the personalities, attitudes, and life experiences of twelve outstanding U.S. airmen shaped the central air campaigns in American history. From Gen. Carl “Tooeey” Spaatz, who began his career in World War I, to the recently retired general T. Michael “Buzz” Moseley, the case studies illuminate the character of these airmen, the challenges they confronted in widely disparate armed conflicts, and the solutions that they crafted and implemented. Their achievements proved decisive not only in the campaigns they led, but also in shaping the U.S. Air Force and the dominant role of airpower in modern warfare.

Squaring the Circle: Mahatma Gandhi and the Jewish National Home
P R. Kumaraswamy is a professor of contemporary Middle East Studies in Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi.
When it comes to Jews, Jewish nationalism and their aspirations in Palestine, even Mahatma Gandhi was not infallible. His abiding empathy for the Jews was negated by his limited understanding of Judaism and Jewish history. The conventional understanding that Gandhi was ‘consistently’ opposed to Zionism and the Jewish aspirations for a national home in Palestine does not correspond with his later remarks.
Contents: Introduction • Jewish Friends • The Zionist Courtship • Kallenbach, the Jewish-Zionist Friend • The Khilafat Phase • Palestine, the Jazirat-ul-Arab • Congress vs. League: The Political Tussle • The Harijan Article: The Jews, November 1938 • Unfamiliarity with Judaism • Zionism: An Enigma • Demand for Jewish Non-Violence

The images are of the many, and as suggested here, relate to the Kazakh conscience. Kazakh borderlands have a completely different profile—that of shared spaces. The Kazaks' attachment to their homeland is a constant—but the question is whether that territorial reality fits into other paradigms of identity and belonging. Such questions arise in the case of Mongolian Kazaks and Uyghurs of Semirech—both the sentiment of place is strong compared to the overwhelming global experiences of the mainland Kazaks.

Kurdistan: The Quest for Representation and Self Determination

Lungthuiyang Riamei, PhD currently teaches at the Department of Political Science, Gargi College, Delhi University.

Kurdistan, the name given to the Kurds' historical homeland, is a landlocked region that lies at the crossroads of Turkey, Syria, Iraq and Iran. The Kurds are known as a nation without borders and considered as a stateless people. Aftermath of the Arab Spring in 2010, Kurdistan has witnessed an increase in nationalism and a shift in geopolitical power. The book examines the various models which could be acceptable solution to the Kurdish problem in West Asian region.

Contents: Introducing Kurdistan • Establishment of the Kurdish Regional Government in Iraqi Kurdistan • The Kurdish Conflict in Turkey • Political Situation of the Kurds in Iran and Syria • International Positions on the Kurdish Problem in the Middle East • The Question of Kurdish Self-Determination • Conclusion • Chronology of the Kurdish National Movement

China, Japan, and Senkaku Islands: Conflict in the East China Sea Amid an American Shadow
Monika Chansoria is a Senior Fellow at the Centre for Land Warfare Studies in New Delhi.
Tracing the genesis of the Senkaku Islands in the memoirs of history, and its potential future, in the backdrop of the East China Sea's brewing dispute, this book chronicles the journey of Sino-Japanese relations in the explicit context of the Senkaku Islands. The evolving power transition dynamics in East Asia render Washington the lynchpin of Tokyo's diplomatic and security strategy, and vice versa. Conversely, China is abrasively displaying an almost predictable geo-strategic pattern and strategy of enforcing territorial claims across Asia, keeping it just below the threshold of provoking conflict, whilst testing the tenacity of existential status quoist norms.
Contents: The Genesis of Dispute in the East China Sea • International Law, Legal Provisions, and Conventions • The Resurgence of Nationalism in China and Japan • Oil, Gas, and Economics of the Conflict • The China-Japan-America Triangle: Coercive Diplomacy, Military Supremacy, and Strategic Power Interplay • Reigniting a Quiescent Volcano • Submissions for Policy Consideration and Formulation

Indian Recipients of the Military Cross (Vol 1 & 2)
Sushil Talwar
Soon after the outbreak of the First World War, the Military Cross was instituted as a reward for junior army officers and warrant officers for gallantry in the field. Indian and Gurkha officers of the Indian Army were equally eligible for two other gallantry awards: the Indian Order for Merit and the Indian Distinguished Service Medal.

This entirely new ground breaking work goes a significant way towards filling the gap by providing comprehensive details of M.C. awards sanctioned for officers of South Asian origin who served with the Indian Army and the Indian States Forces in all conflicts up to August 1947.

For each entry the rank, name and regiment or corps of the officer is provided, together with the date and page number of the London Gazette and/or Gazette of India announcing the M.C. award. Each entry is supplemented by details of the officer's military service and any other rewards received. Many of them have been found with families who have little or no knowledge of their ancestors’ gallant deeds.

Contours of Relationship: India and the Middle East
Kingshuk Chatterjee is an Associate Professor in the Department of History, Calcutta University.
India’s relationship with the Middle East is a very good example of ties between people that are genuinely of historical. The primary objective of the volume is to examine the contours of relationship between the peoples of the two regions, before the political frontiers of the Indian subcontinent and the Middle East were fashioned in the middle of the twentieth century. While the natural frontiers of the Hindu Kush, Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea divided the peoples into linguistic and cultural zones that were Indic, Arab, Persian and Turkic, (and a host of others) such cultural frontiers, despite being thick, were never quite hard.
Contents: The Baghdadi Jews an Economic Force Across Asia (1790-1950s) • Mirza Ghulam Ahmad’s Jesus and the Rediscovery of ‘Lost Tribes’ • Imdadullah Maki and Muslim Cosmopolitanism in the 19th Century • Sayyid Jalal Al-Din Kashani and Habl Al-Matin of Calcutta • Ties in Troubled Times • The Trans-National Ties of an Indian Nationalist

India-China Border Trade: A Case Study of Sikkim’s Nathu La
Eram Fatma did her M.Phil, in Foreign Policy from the Institute of Foreign Policy Studies, Calcutta University.
Border trade between India and China was closed shortly before the India-China war of 1962. The growing tensions between the two countries due to border issues along with India’s stand to give refuge to the Dalai Lama added fuel to fire. There was about a decade and a half long Cold War like situation that existed between the two countries. Relations began to normalise from the mid-1970s. On 16 December 1991, India and China signed a memorandum of understanding on resumption of Border Trade. It was decided initially it would be carried out at one point across the Uttar Pradesh-Tibet border through the Lipulekh pass. This was followed by the reopening of Border Trade in 1992.

Afghan Women in Transition: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow
Anwesha Ghosh was affiliated to Centre for Pakistan and West Asian Studies (CPN4S) University of Calcutta.
The Government of Afghanistan specified gender equality to be one of the most important cross cutting themes in Afghanistan National Development Strategy (ANDS) 2008-2013, by committing to measurable improvement in women’s economic opportunities and access to and control over productive assets and income. In order to understand how the changes, achievements and challenges of women have altered overtime, attempts have been made through this study to review the position enjoyed by women in the remote past (Yesterday), starting from the monarchies up to the present generation of women (Today) and also what sort of challenges and obstacles the future generations of women are likely to face in Afghanistan in the days after the complete withdrawal of International Forces (Tomorrow).
Contents: A Historical Overview of Position of Women in Afghanistan • Barriers and Bridges: Women in Rural and Urban Afghanistan • The Afghan State, Society and Gender Politics up to 2001 • Afghan Women since the fall of the Taliban • Women’s Voices in Contemporary Afghanistan

Whither Indian Ocean Maritime Order? Contributions to a Seminar on Narendra Modi's SAGAR Speech
Yogendra Kumar has been India's Ambassador to Tajikistan and the Philippines as well as High Commissioner to Namibia. He has been concurrently accredited to Palau, Micronesia and the Marshall Islands.

Prime Minister Modi articulated his vision for the future of the Indian Ocean region when he presented the Offshore Patrol Vessel Baracuda to the Mauritian Coast Guard on March 12, 2015, at Port Louis. Whilst infusing a soft civilizational complexion to India's envisaged role, it signifies, also, a determination to seek a future of 'Security and Growth for All in the Region' – or SAGAR (Hindi for 'sea'). The eminent contributors to this volume analyse the various components of the SAGAR pronouncement and contextualise them against the emerging strategic trends and the spectrum of bilateral and multilateral effort required for its success.

Contents:
- A Strategic Perspective
- Mapping the Maritime Order from International Relations' Theoretical Perspectives
- Traditional Security Challenges to the Maritime Order in the Indian Ocean Region
- Non-Traditional Security Challenges to the Maritime Order in the Indian Ocean Region
- Overview of Governance Structures for the Indian Ocean Region

Enhancing Economic Relations between India and Mongolia: Task and Opportunities
Prabir De, Professor, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS); Coordinator, AIC, and Adjunct Fellow, ICS, New Delhi
Sreya Pan, Research Associate, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi.

The relations between Mongolia and India have a long history. Both countries have continued to build relations based on their shared historical and cultural legacy. Relations with Southeast and East Asian countries are the foundation of India's Act East Policy (AEP). India-Mongolia bilateral relations hold the promise of fostering the regional integration process in Asia. Given the thrust of the Act East Policy (AEP), this book analyses the scope and opportunities in interdependence in economic areas between India and Mongolia, presents an assessment of economic cooperation, identifies the challenges and highlights policy issues to be sorted out to foster bilateral relations.

Contents:
- Executive Summary
- Introduction
- Overview of the Mongolian Economy
- Economic Relations between India and Mongolia
- Mongolia's Integration with the World Economy
- Mongolia's Trade Transportation Linkages with Neighbouring Countries
- Bilateral Relations between India and Mongolia

China has garnered interest in the world as it emerges as one of the largest nations, in terms of population and economic potential. While China is Asia's largest economy it also has Asia's largest urban-rural divide. While urban-rural disparities exist in almost every country in the world, they exist in a unique form in China. The divide has been intentionally exacerbated by the Chinese government.

Cyber crime, cyber warfare and cyber terrorism have been so intricately embedded in the current ‘security zeitgeist’ that any discourse, technology integration and capability assimilation without multifaceted foci on these, remains diffused and inchoate. Strategists, decision-makers, practitioners and scholars study cyber warfare and each group is saddled with its own peculiar and intractable problems. The ubiquitous dependence of a nation on cyber space makes the disruption of cyber space a cause of grave concern. The conventional rules and legal norms associated with crime control and criminal justice struggle to keep pace with the changing dynamics of the challenges of policing, regulating and enforcing the provisions of statutory laws in cyber space.

Contents: Cyber War • Coming of Age of Cyber War • Enunciation of the Principles of Cyber Deterrence • Cyber-Military Doctrinal and Functional Convergence • Cyber Surveillance, Espionage and Exploitation • Cyber Security and Critical Information Infrastructure Protection • Cyber Defence • War Over Internet Governance • Offensive Potentiality of Cyber Attacks • Internet of Things • Shaping The Cyber Zeitgeist in India: Challenges, Prospects and Opportunities

Resolving India's Maoist Challenge: Looking Beyond Security and Development
Shashank Ranjan is a Senior Fellow with the Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS), New Delhi.

The Maoist or Naxalite insurgency began in the late 1960s as a peasant struggle. A ‘strategy’ of response to resolve the challenge would have to factor in the cumulative deficits, as also the roots of these deficits. It can not be ‘only security’ or ‘only development’ or even both blended. The narrative shall have to go beyond; into the people-centric realm. The main objective of this book is to explore the dynamics of the conflict, cutting across the socio-economic, institutional and human domains.

Contents: Genesis and Evolution of Left Radicalism in India • Inheritance of Discontent and Alienation • Governing the Tribals • PESA • The Sordid Saga of Displacement • Tribal Resurgence • Maoists' Organisational Set-up • Proliferation for War-Fighting • Ideological Faultlines • Managing Perceptions for the Maoists • Seeing Through the Maoist Myths • Criminal Justice System, Undertrials and Alienation • Modernising and Reforming the Police • Civil Society, NGOs and Conflict Resolution • Enabling the Grassroots

Weaponisation of Space: An Inevitable Reality and Plausible Fallout
Pa Patil was Senior, fellow of CAPS, New Delhi.

Militarily, use of space based assets when integrated with operations assumes importance as one of the many force multipliers. As on date, outer space is extensively used by the armed forces for varied services which include navigation, intelligence, surveillance, reconnaissance, environmental monitoring and advance warning. Thus, from the present capability of ‘militarization of space’, we seem to be graduating towards ‘weaponisation of space’.

Contents: Pursuit for Space Supremacy • The Quest for Space Weapons • Kinetic Kill Space Weapons • Directed Energy Weapons • Cyber Attacks on Satellites • United States, China and Space Weapons • Implications of Space Weaponisation and its Global Fallout • Space Weaponisation and the Legal Framework • Space Weapons: Indian Context and Futuristic Roadmap

Indo-Pak War 1971 Daruchhian: Saga of Valour

Indirajit Singh dedicated his life to serve the ex-serviceemen.

“The Battle of Daruchhian, a Saga of Valour and Sacrifice” is an account of a battle in which in a matter of less than twelve hours a total of eight officers, seven JCOs and one hundred and forty nine ORs were killed, wounded or missing. The first part of the book deals with the problems faced by a CO and how he overcame the same. It also gives out an account of a successful raid on enemy Supply Point carried out before the main battle. The second part is a detailed account of the battle. It also explains how men were focused during the battle, despite reverses and the enemy proving to be stronger. The third part enumerates the problems faced by an unsuccessful Commander.

Contents: My Regimental Grooming and Initial Assignments • Multi-Directional Attack - Evolution of The Concept • Raid On Atian Supply Point • Preparations for The Attack • Battalion Moves for Attack Preliminary Moves • C Company Attacks • D Company Attacks • Desperate Efforts of CO’s Party • Getting Over The Traumatic Experience Briefing The GOC Corps About The Battle • Daruchhian Commemorated • Regimental Scarf Tradition • Army Commander Orders to Conduct Battle Study • Meeting With Army Commander

Celebrating the Third Decade and Beyond: New Challenges to ASEAN-India Economic Partnership

Prabir De, Professor, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS) and Coordinator, ASEAN-India Centre (AIC), New Delhi. Suthiphand Chirathivat, Chairman, Chula Global Network and Executive Director, ASEAN Studies Center (ASC), Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok.

The ASEAN-India economic integration has made substantial progress in recent years. India’s engagements with Southeast and East Asia have received new momentum under the Act East Policy (AEP). This book is a timely initiative to review the past and suggest the ways to further strengthen the economic partnership. It primarily deals with the economic integration issues between ASEAN and India, and assesses policy priorities, effectiveness, implementation imperatives and challenges.

Contents: ASEAN-India Political Cooperation • Act East Policy and India’s Cultural Diplomacy with ASEAN • Reassessing the Impact of the ASEAN-India Free Trade Agreement • Will India Gain from India-ASEAN FTA? Analysis of Simulated Scenarios based on Phased Implementation • India-Thailand Partnership: Way Towards Greater Cooperation • India-ASEAN Production Networks • ASEAN-India Connectivity: Progress So Far • Look East to Act East • Education and Knowledge Institutional Cooperation with Special Reference to Science
